

Indianapolis Region Sports Car Club of America Worker of the Year

Starting in 1960, each year the Regional Executive is to present a Worker of the Year Award to some person or persons who have dedicated a lot of time, work and extra effort for the region.

This was the same year that Stout Field was lost as the Region's race course, and the start of construction for Indianapolis Raceway Park. The region held a late 1960 drag race event at the freshly completed IRP drag strip, but the road course was not available until 1961.
